Greetings from Blackpool

Here are a few articles and photos received from members and guests attending the Blackpool Break last week. For a more comprehensive read please see Julys Fed News.

A Short Break in Blackpool.

By Arthur Payne.

On Monday 19 June my friend Jimmy Jones and myself went on a short break to Blackpool. The event had been organised by Pardy and we joined a large group of about 80 plus people.

The entertainment was very good. We had singers on the Tuesday and Thursday evenings. On the Wednesday evening there was a karaoke from 9.30 where both Jim and myself sung several songs. Also because it was mid summer's day a Summer Solstice event where people dressed up as druids. The summer solstice took place on the beach opposite the hotel.

Blackpool has an excellent tram system. There was a tram stop just outside the hotel. The trams went from Stargate which was simply a terminus to Fleetwood Ferry. We visited that place on the Tuesday and had some fish and chips. On the Wednesday we went to an excellent Indian restaurant called Twisted which had won top awards for Blackpool. I enjoyed the food there.

A raffle took place during the break withal kinds of corporate prizes including two first-class returns on East Midlands Railway to a station of their choice and gifts from RNIB and a number of other prizes but at £5 a strip was quite expensive but this was because of the corporate nature of the prizes.

I would like to thank Pardy for organising this excellent break and would certainly do it again if it happens next year. The weather for the break was excellent and we did not get caught in any rain.

Read Arthurs full account in July's Fed News.

From: Aqua & Tahira

To Pardy and the team working along side him Thank you so much for organising this Blackpool trip. we enjoyed ourselves and met and made so many new friends and acquaintances. Not to mention becoming reacquainted with old friends.

We would also like to say a” Big Thank You “ to Connie and the other Volunteers . who’s presence Also made this trip a possible reality for many of us. They spent a lot of time helping , supporting, assisting, watching over and looking after all of us. Even when we didn’t know / realise we needed it. Thank you And thank you to those individuals , partners, Wives and husbands who not only looked after “ their own “ partners but stepped in to assist other VI’s without being asked when we needed it. We too were recipients of such help and support. Thank You.

And finally , yesterday when leaving the Carousel hotel there was the usual confusion with cabs at the reception area. During all this confusion we forgot to do something. Had it not been for Tahira we would have returned to London with our room keys .

But thankfully she remembered . So, As our cab was about to pull away They were handed to Stu (the VI with glasses , a vibrant yellow shirt and shorts). Thanks Stu for handing them in . back to reception on our behalf.

We Hope that everyone returned home safely. If the opportunity arises in the future? We are looking forward to seeing you all again. Take Good care of Yourselves.

Blackpool.

By Darren Vickers.

Last week a large number of us went to Blackpool for 4 nights. We traveled from Euston to Blackpool North with Avanti west coast. Their Staff were very good and helpful.

We stayed in a very nice hotel called the Carousel. It has over 100 bedrooms. We booked half board. The Staff were fantastic and went out of their way to help us.

Most of us did our own thing in the day and in the evening we all met up in the bar. On Wednesday about 38 of us went for a curry.

On the Thursday Noel and I went to the Sandcastle Water Park. The staff went out of their way to give us as much help as they could, including looking after my guide dog Milo. One of the members of staff stayed with us the whole three hours we were there. We would definitely go there again.

The 4 night break was fantastic.

From Alison:

Dear all, I had a much needed fab few days away with y'all. I'm missing the sun shimmering horizon!

Stephanie and Edwina, it was a pleasure to have your company, sorry I was unable to say goodbye in person . Take care everyone, until next time, Alison X

Sandcastle Waterpark.

By Noel Farry .

Anyone who knows me well will know I'm a bit of a water baby, If the opportunity arises, I'm off swimming whether it's the pool, river, lake or sea. I was looking forward to going in the sea whilst in Blackpool, but unfortunately, a major sewage leak put a stop to that. Luckily, Blackpool is home to the UK's largest indoor waterpark, so I knew this was somewhere I had to visit.

Sandcastle Waterpark is just opposite the Pleasure Beach and features a wide range of rides and attractions for everyone, including a wave pool, lazy river and water slides such as Master Blaster, Sidewinder and Montazooma.

As a VI person, I find places like this can be very difficult to navigate as there are so many stairs, ramps and other obstacles to negotiate. This wasn't a problem here as we had our own personal guide who stayed with us throughout our three hour session.

From the moment we arrived, the staff couldn't do enough for us, they were so positive and seemed to have had excellent disability awareness training. I can thoroughly recommend this venue to anyone, it's great fun, and you will be very well looked after.

“I’m Todd Cartie!”

By Fiona Musgrove

Like many of you I can't identify faces and this was another such incident when I asked a, slightly stocky, man, outside the back stage door, at the Grand Theatre, Blackpool "Is Todd Cartie here?"

Thirty of our Blackpool revellers attended the 70th anniversary of Mousetrap. The irony of the tune "Three Blind Mice" was not missed either by us, as it played a part in the show.

Todd Cartie, who plays the Major in the Mousetrap, has had a career from appearing as Tucker in Grange Hill, Mark Fowler in Eastenders and more recently Gabriel in The Bill. He was charming and found the question "where is Todd Cartie?" Rather amusing as he responded "thats me".

We explained how useful having audio description is for us to fully appreciate the set and actors appearances. He said he had delivered a few shows where AD had been provided. He asked how we had found the Mousetrap and was pleased the dialogue provided us with clear directions.

Thanks to Pardy for arranging this for us - it was a great evening. Click here for more information: <https://www.blackpoolgrand.co.uk/>

Great welcome at Beyond Sight Loss.

By Fiona Musgrove.

I received a warm welcome, to Beyond Sight Loss, on Thursday 8th June. This group, based only a short walk from Bethnal Green Underground Station, was attended by around 30 blind and partially sighted people, alongside a team of volunteers. Ash introduced herself and went through future activities including driving high performance cars, a cookery class and a trip to Margate.

Members initially, sat together in small groups to enjoy the provided light lunch, before the room was rearranged to accommodate the guest speakers. Tom and Paula, from Extant, provided a lively interactive session with everyone participating and there was a lot of laughter.

Beyond Sight Loss meets every month in Bethnal Green, regularly on Zoom and through a number of activities. For more information please contact: info@beyondsightloss.org.uk

Mother Art Collection.

By Richard Simpson.

I've often wondered what my liposucked belly fat would look like. Now I know thanks to the Mother Art Prize at the Zabudowicz Collection.

This is a marvellous assembly of prize winning female artists from all over the world who also happen to be mothers bringing up children, whilst creating fabulous pieces. So, apart from the aforementioned belly-fat with designer labels, there was painting with one's hair as a brush, spooky randomly moving chairs and seemingly bland tables that suddenly spoke to you. Not just a visual feast available only to the sighted but also both aural and oral facilitated by wonderful Royal Academy curator, Harry Baxter, who just happens to look like a young Johnny Depp.

The photo below shows a group of VIPs listening intently to Harry's description of Xie Rong's painting and video work, Painting until it becomes marble – Love never dies (2019). The large-scale painting, made from Chinese ink and Ultramarine Blue powder pigment, is the result of a performance by the artist, which is documented in the video.

The below photo shows the group listening to Harry's description in the converted Methodist Church where it now houses the Mother Art Prize at the Zabłudowicz Collection.

These audio-described tours are created so us VIPs may engage with the artistic world but often undersubscribed. Use them or lose them, so, get in there and book forthcoming events. As we are VIPs, we generally get refreshments and quality cake, as an added bonus. Treat yourself and your friends; you know you are worth it.

Careen Bradbury - Obituary.

By Valerie Clarke.

Careen Bradbury – 30 September 1936 to 20 June 2023. It is with sadness that I let you know of the death of Careen Bradbury. Careen was very involved with so many blindness related charities.

She was initially educated at Haberdashers Girls before moving to the National Institute for the Blind's (now RNIB) Chorleywood College for girls with little or no sight. The school was located in the Cedars, a large Renaissance-style mansion in Hertfordshire which is now the site of the Cedars Retirement Village. Careen was educated there from the age of 13.

Prior to marrying in 1963 Careen worked as a telephonist for Barclays Bank which was in those days a reserved occupation for blind and partially sighted people, when she started a family Careen worked for a decade as a specialist teacher at RNIB Sunshine House, Northwood, West London which is an education setting for blind and partially sighted children aged 3-14 and continues to operate.

When Careen's own children grew up she returned to working as a Barclays Bank telephonist at Pinner Branch close to her home, working there until her retirement.

Careen was a very active National Federation of the Blind (NFB), London Branch member and assisted as Editor of Viewpoint the NFB magazine for several years. She enjoyed working as a team with Fundraising for various blind charities, raising much needed money.

Careen was passionate about the education of blind children, and was a school governor for specialist schools including RNIB New College Worcester and RNIB Rushton Hall School in Northampton.

A few years after the death of her husband Guy, Careen moved from Pinner to Chorleywood to be near her daughter Catherine and youngest grandson William, purchasing a lovely retirement apartment. Careen spent eight happy years in Chorleywood before her health began to deteriorate and spent the final six months of her life in Chorleywood Beaumont, a lovely caring nursing home where she enjoyed the beautiful grounds.

Careen died peacefully in Watford General Hospital after a short illness, with Catherine and William by her side.

Rest in Peace lovely Careen, so many of us remember you with affection. Love from Valerie and friends.

The Braillists Foundation

The Braillists Foundation was established in 2020 to promote the value of braille as a proven literacy tool that enriches the lives of blind people. We do this by supporting efforts to make affordable braille and tactile reading technologies available to all blind people irrespective of education and employment status and provide an open forum for the exchange of ideas about the development of future braille technology. We actively encourage braille learning through our Braille for Beginners course, improve peer support and access to expertise through our Braille Bar, Masterclasses, Book Club and podcast. Crucially most of our volunteers and trustees are braille readers. Find out more and join the community at <http://www.braillists.org/>

Transport News

NaviLens trial on the DLR from Tom Page, General Manager, DLR.

Thanks to Martin Wilson.

We have partnered with KeolisAmey Docklands (KAD), GoMedia and The Royal National Institute of Blind People (RNIB) to trial NaviLens, a mobile app designed to help visually impaired passengers navigate stations on the DLR.

The trial will take place at Cutty Sark, Canary Wharf, Woolwich Arsenal and Tower Gateway DLR stations for six months.

NaviLens is designed to enable blind and partially sighted people to access and locate information and interact with their environment, particularly in busy areas like train stations.

The technology is based on image recognition using augmented smart codes placed along designated customer itineraries and a smartphone app that provides voice guidance for visually impaired passengers.

The NaviLens app will need to be downloaded in order to gain access to the image recognition and voice guidance technology.

Once smart codes have been scanned, users can benefit from the help of the app's voice assistant to continue their journey, the voice assistant having told them practical information including description of a physical element, guidance indications and real-time DLR arrivals and departures.

The trial will be supported by audio announcements at stations, members of staff at Bank, Cutty Sark, Island Gardens and Woolwich Arsenal DLR stations, and Passenger Service Agents that are on board all DLR trains to assist passengers.
